HOW TO GET THERE

The Plumley-Maud Trail can be accessed from the end of Maud Road, or from the corner on Plumley Road near Caudill Road.

On Maud Road there is a small turn around and limited parking before the creek directly east of the road. Please be careful not to block the entrance to the trail or the private driveway on the north side. To access the Plumley-Maud Trail, cross the creek (east of the road) and take the first trail on the right.

From the Caudill Road access, take a left on a small gravel road. The trail begins and heads north where the gravel road turns left. Parking is limited on the roadside. Please do not block the trail or driveways along the road.

DESCRIPTION

The Plumley-Maud Trail is a year round multi-use trail that runs between Maud Road on the north and Plumley Road on the south. The trail was originally built by loggers to access logging areas near Burnt Butte, so there are several small trails connecting to the main trail. The trail can connect to the Rippy Trail via Maud Road, and the Morgan Horse Trail via Maud Road. The area is wooded with stands of birch, spruce and cottonwood.

TAKE NOTE

The trail passes close by residential areas, so please respect private property. Snowmachiners and ATV riders must yield to non-motorized trail users and keep their speeds under 10 mph.
